

26 luglio 2026

Giuseppe Porcellini, M.D.

Giuseppe Porcellini was educated at the Bologna University, qualifying as a doctor in 1985 and specialist in Orthopaedics in 1990 at Bologna University in Rizzoli Institute.

During his residency he completed a Shoulder Fellowship with:

Luis Bigliani, Charles Rockwood, Steve Snyder

In 2000 he founded, with dr. Paolo Paladini and Fabrizio Campi, a Unit of Shoulder and Elbow surgery at Villa Serena Private Clinic in Forlì (Italy)

Since 2005 to present he is Chief of the Unit of Shoulder and Elbow Surgery of Cervesi Hospital in Cattolica (RN – Italy).

His clinical and surgical practice has always been dedicated to shoulder and elbow problems.

He is author of several international publications on different topics concerning the shoulder and elbow.

He is member of Italian Society of Orthopedics (SIOT)

He was President of Italian Society for Shoulder and Elbow Surgery (SICSeG)

He is Corresponding Member of American Shoulder and Elbow Society (ASES)

He is ordinary member of European Society for Shoulder and Elbow Surgery (SECEC-ESSSE)

He has the role of Associate Professor in Modena University and Director of the graduate school of Modena

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'Giuseppe Porcellini', located at the bottom left of the page.